

NARENTINES

Narentines is a collection of 8888 unique NFTs of 100+ traits, sailing on SOLANA blockchain seas. The main goal is to provide fun, excitement, connection with other people, and historical facts through gamified experience where players can also earn $GOODS tokens.

Narentines as the project started a year ago when six friends who loved history in childhood decided to combine that passion with a new one: NFT.

Since frogs are the trademark of the valley where Narentines comes from, we decided to build our story around pirate frogs.

Each part of the game is based on actual historical facts, so playing the game gives the opportunity to learn a lot. Remember, every name, ship, action, and battle happened at some point in history, but in which part it is up to you to discover.

The principle of the game will be straightforward, and you will initially send your ship on expeditions to the Adriatic Sea. Later PVP battles will be included, alongside the ability to create clans and reward the best in the form of real-life prizes you have never seen in the NFT world.

Our further plans are to organize new game modes, ranking, and reward systems, and although it seems like a lot of work, you better believe that this team never sleeps.

We believe that you will enjoy our play to (l)earn game, a combination of old (history) and modern (NFT), and (l)earn something along the way.

Solana, as you might know, is using proof-of-history, which with its name fits perfectly into our idea of a historically based play to (l)earn game. The Solana blockchain is eco-friendly, so off-chain frogs will live more peacefully.

Our team at Swamplabs believes that we have a unique design that has not been seen on the blockchain so far and that everyone will fall in love with Narentines.
